Once I complete the Professional Certificate in Construction Management, am I licensed?

Our certificate program prepares you to be an effective construction manager. While it is not a license, companies recognize the value of a certificate so it can help you advance your career.

Who should enroll in Construction Management?

Anyone may enroll in either the classes or the certificate program though it is primarily designed for current or future managers, designers, or engineers in construction. Others who may benefit include city planning staff, real estate developers, investors and/or subcontractors.

Do I need a degree to enroll in the Certificate program?

No.

When can I start the Certificate program?

You may begin at the start of any quarter. Classes are offered year-round.

Are classes offered online or on the UCR campus? How often do they meet? How many courses can I take per quarter?

Our classes are currently available in a classroom setting at both UC Riverside Extension in Riverside and UCR Palm Desert, not online. Each class typically meets one evening per week. You are welcome to take as many classes as your schedule permits.

Where can I find more information?

Take a look at the Completion Information provided on our website for additional information. The list of required courses may be found on the Course Schedule tab. Click on the title of each course for more details. If a course is not scheduled at this time, simply click on the Notify Me link and you will receive an email when the course is open for enrollment.

How can I reach a program expert?
