Who will benefit from the Professional Certificate in Project Management?
Anyone in business, academia, the government or an industry position who leads, or plans to take the lead, in large organizational projects, particularly in the fields of construction, engineering, technology, banking, or real estate.

What is the salary for a Project Manager?
Salaries will vary by industry but, according to the Project Management Institute (PMI), the median base salary is $105,000.

Do I need a degree to enroll in this certificate program?
No, but the more education you have in a college environment the better for your resume.

When can I start the certificate program?
Do I have to take the classes in a special sequence?
No. Classes are scheduled year-round with varying start dates, and can be taken in any order.

Are classes offered online or on the UCR campus? How often do they meet? How many can I take per quarter?
Courses are offered online and in-person. You are welcome to take as many classes as your schedule permits.

How long does it take to complete the Professional Certificate in Project Management?
Usually about a year; but it depends on you and the pace you set. You have five years to finish your certificate program.

Where can I find more information?
On our website, the Project Management Certificate web page offers a list of required courses under the Course Schedule tab. Click on the title of each course for more details. If a course is not scheduled at this time, simply click on the Notify Me link and you will receive an e-mail when the course is open for enrollment.

How can I reach a program expert?
Contact Tanya Meza, Program Assistant, (951) 827-1723, or bet@ucr.ucr.edu.